

Linda Hartman-Reehl

Linda is a Senior Partner at inQUEST.

Known as a paradigm-changing D&I strategist, Linda builds teams and programs that drive behavior change. She is a learning & development strategist, leader, and practitioner who has dedicated more than 20 years to the development of individuals, teams, and organizational capability in multiple fields.

As D&I Senior Director at Baxter Healthcare, a 40,000-employee organization with operations in more than 100 countries, Linda drove initiatives from the ground up, including Learning & Development teams, strategies, and curricula for multiple functions and businesses.

She is renowned as a progressive thinker and has been a transformational builder of large-scale learning curricula around the world. Linda is committed to evoking meaningful learning experiences with team members at all levels with a goal of creating sustainable behavior change.

Linda graduated from Indiana University of Pennsylvania with a B.S. in Family and Consumer Sciences/Human Sciences and an M.S. in Learning & Organizational Change from Northwestern University.

“When people are enabled to bring what makes them different, teams and organizations can think differently, perform with higher levels of engagement, and approach business with different perspectives—ultimately innovating for the company and the people they serve.”
